

WINE ROOM

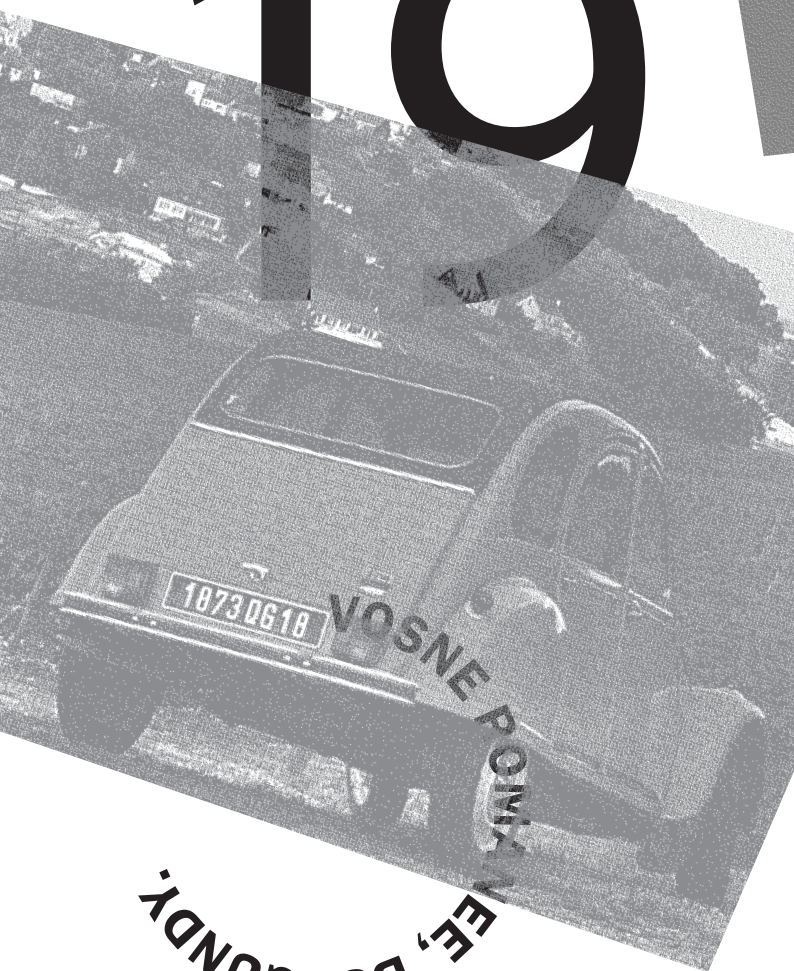

The wines from the 1978 Burgundy vintage are the most inspiring, beautiful wines I have ever tasted. In fact, the 1978 Domaine de la Romanee-Conti La Tache was my first true love in wine.

Due to an obsessive personality (and very generous friends!) I have had the opportunity to taste many wines of that vintage from many of the great Burgundian growers. These are wines that invoke emotion, reflection, awe. They remain among the most influential wines I have consumed.

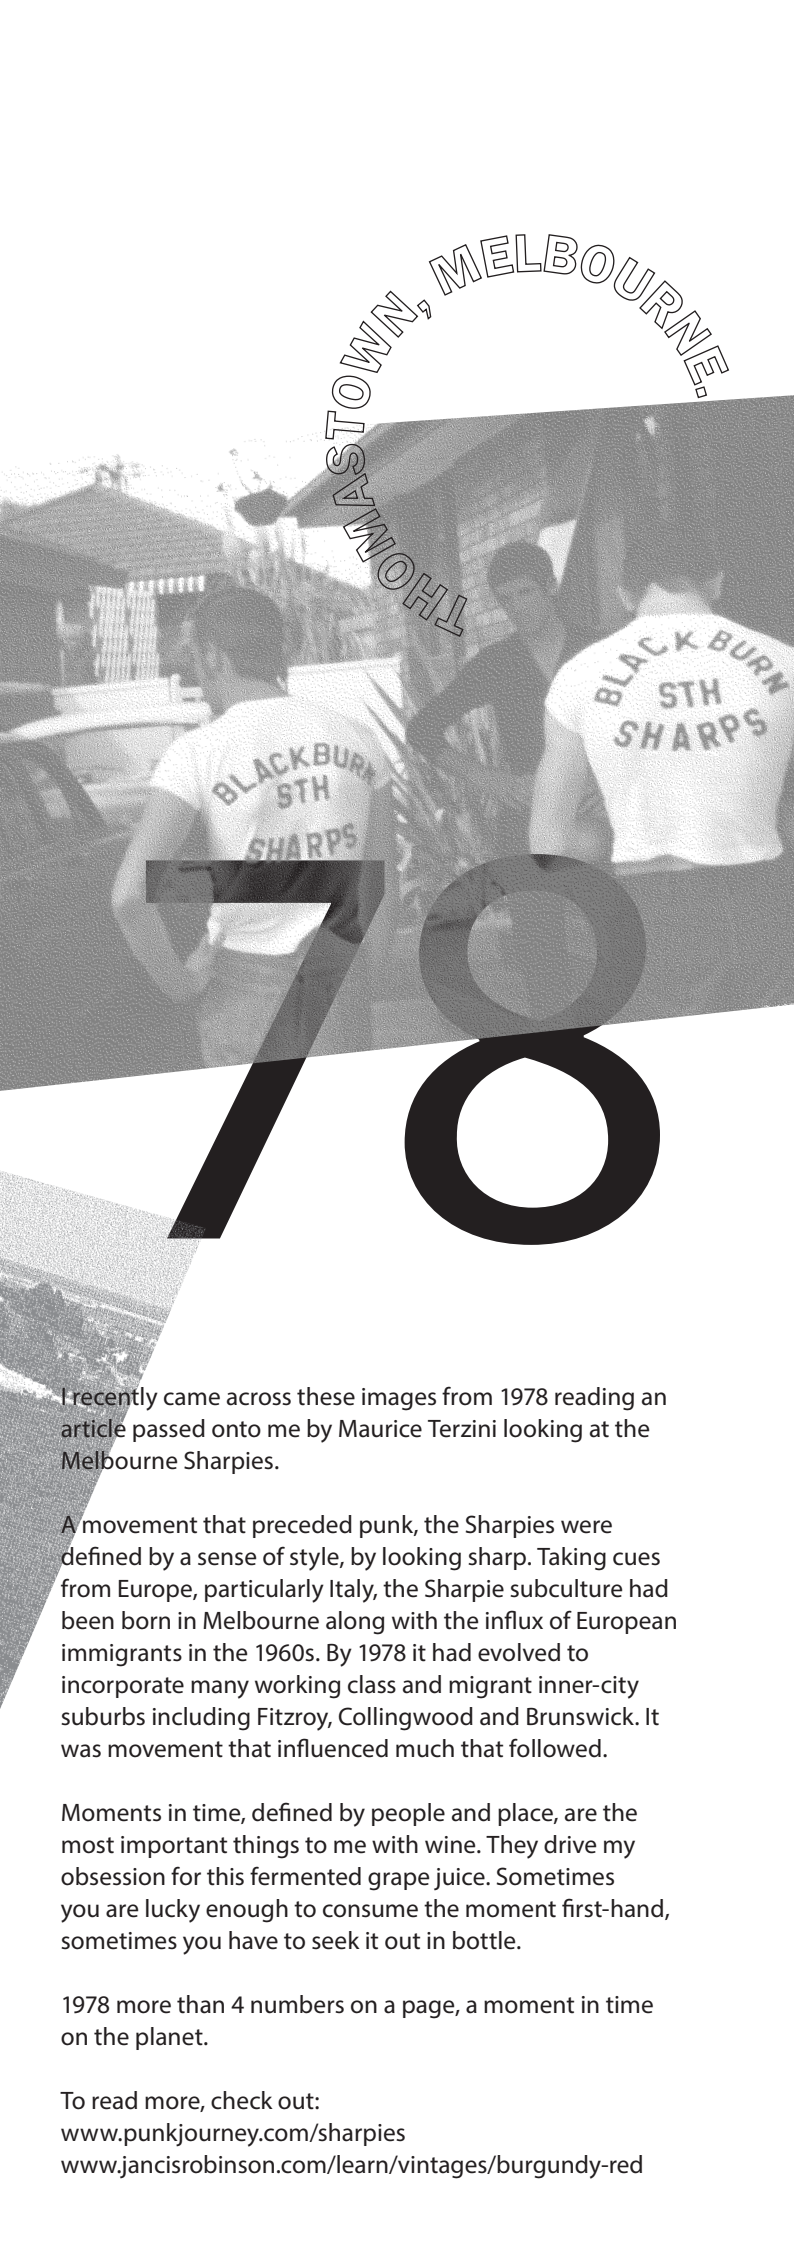

I could try to explain why that year was so remarkable, how the terroir and the growing conditions of that season came together, but I feel even the best prose, the most in-depth analysis of the wine, is nothing compared to actually drinking it.

What I did discover, perhaps unexpectedly, was that the magic of those wines was about more than the place and the weather – it was about the people who put it in bottle, it was about a moment caught in time.

I recently came across these images from 1978 reading an article passed onto me by Maurice Terzini looking at the Melbourne Sharpies.

A movement that preceded punk, the Sharpies were defined by a sense of style, by looking sharp. Taking cues from Europe, particularly Italy, the Sharpie subculture had been born in Melbourne along with the influx of European immigrants in the 1960s. By 1978 it had evolved to incorporate many working class and migrant inner-city suburbs including Fitzroy, Collingwood and Brunswick. It was movement that influenced much that followed.

Moments in time, defined by people and place, are the most important things to me with wine. They drive my obsession for this fermented grape juice. Sometimes you are lucky enough to consume the moment first-hand, sometimes you have to seek it out in bottle.

1978 more than 4 numbers on a page, a moment in time on the planet.

SAKE FERMENTATION

MULTIPLE PARALLEL FERMENTATION

During this time the ingredients go through what is known as Multiple Parallel Fermentation where the conversion of the starch in the rice grain into sugar (by the kōji mould) and the conversion of sugar into alcohol (by the yeast) are happening at the same time. The result is that undiluted sake has an alcohol content of approximately 18-20%, which is higher than any other naturally fermented beverage.

What sets sake fermentation apart from wine and beer fermentation?

WINE FERMENTATION is known as Simple Fermentation as grapes already contain a high percentage of sugar naturally, so fermentation can occur spontaneously due to the yeast on the grape skins or with the addition of cultured yeast.

BEER FERMENTATION is known as Separate Fermentation as the brewer malts the grain to first develop the enzymes required to change the grains starches into sugars. Then the sugar is converted into alcohol by yeast. In beer these are two separate stages, unlike sake where they happen simultaneously (or parallel).

FLOR FLOR WHAT IS IT GOOD FOR?

During the fermentation the flor yeast works anaerobically, converting sugar into ethanol. When all the sugar has been consumed, the flor yeast morphs and begins an aerobic process of breaking down and converting the acids into other compounds such as acetaldehyde
